Chicago, June 28 .- A strike of the 400,000 railway shopmen of the country will be called for July 1 unless the railroads agree to stay the $60,000,000 wage cut due the shop workers on that date and to restore certain working conditions formerly in effect, it was made known last night through a telegram from B. laws to call a strike.
Although the actual call for the walkout was made dependent on the railway executives' reply to Mr. Jewell's ultimatum, little expectation was expressed in railroad circles that the executives would agree to such sweeping demands as those made by the unions. Six international union presidents, forming the Executive Council of the mechanical section, Railway Employes' Department of the American Federation of Labor, were responsible for the strike decision.

Declarin the railroads have acted on a common program to reduce wages and obtain other advantages to the carriers, Mr. Jewell's message pointed out 'one benefit which may come to the carriers and their employes and to the general public, from the fact that there are national spokesmen of the conflicting interests who might be able to halt a nation-wide withdrawal of men from employment in the railway service, if the railway executives sincerely desired to avoid this consequence of their previous course of action.

The Evening Public Ledger is to be commended for its editorial stand of recent date regarding prohibition being a farce. The cartoon of this date, "A Dark Shadow Steals O'er the Land of Liberty," is another silent appeal for the personal liberties of the people of the United States of America, once "the land of the free," but now a land dominated by that octopus, the stall when the report of the committee tail when the report of the committee Anti-Saloon League.

is not entirely due to "shell-shock from the war" nor to unemployment nor to the great influx of aliens. He adds: "All these instances combined do not answer the question. The real causes lie deeper. They inhere in the wide-inw. The delay in punishment, the inadequacy of the penalty, the coddling of criminals, the ease with which they escape, the technicalities surrounding the indictment, the trials, the appeals, the probation, the suspended sentence.

Sir—In all her letters to your interesting Forum, Ellen E. has been knocking the saloons and their advocates, but here is another problem: How is Ellen E. going to get rid of the speakers, let alone the individual maker of moonshine?

True, the saloons are disappearing, but for one barroom closed a half dozen clandestine places are opening and doing the probation, the suspended sentence, the commutation and the pardon have more to do than anything else with the breakdown of our criminal jurisprudence. Among the remedies Mr. Ellis pro-poses are: Establishment of a Federal bureau to gather and analyze statistics on crime, swift punishment of offenders, prohibition of the manufacture of fire-arms and the placing of justice within reach of the poor.

These remarks, it seems to me, are most interesting. He has had considerable opportunity to study the subsupplements the evidence ore the committee with placed before the committee with knowledge gained as a practicing lawyer, newspaper editor, Attorney General of Ohio, and assistant to the Attorney General of the United States. It will soon be seen whether he has struck the keynote for the whole committee when it reports next month.

Congressman's Residence

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir-Please state whether it is necessar or a member of the House of Representa for a member of the House of Representives to be a resident of the district which represents?

L. L. R. Philadelphia, June 26, 1922.

The Constitution of the United States pro-vides that no person shall be a Representa-tive who shall not, when elected, be an in-habitant of that State in which he shall be chosen, but makes no requirement as to residence within the district. There are numerous fintances where members of Con-gress have been only nominally residents of the districts which elected them.

Poems and Songs

'Her Bright Smile Haunts Me Still' To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir-May I ask you to print in the People's Forum the old poem entitled "Her Bright Smile Haunts Me Still"?

R. H. B.

Philadelphia, June 26, 1922. HER BRIGHT SMILE HAUNTS ME STILL

'Tis years since last we met.
And we may not meet again:
I have struggled to forgot. But the struggle is in vain: For her voice lives on the breeze, And her spirit comes at will; In the midnight on the seas. Her bright smile haunts me still!

For her voice lives on the breeze.

And her spirit comes at will; In the midnight on the seas, Her bright smile haunts me still!

When I gaze upon the deep. Her form still greets my sight. While the stars their vigils keep;
When I close my aching eyes
Sweet dreams my senses fill.
And from sleep when I arise.
Her bright smile haunts me still!

When I close my aching eyes
Sweet dreams my senses fill.
And from sleep when I arise.
Her bright smile haunts me still:

I have sail'd 'neath alien skies, I have trod the desert path, have seen the storm arise. Like a giant in his wrath; Ev'ry danger I have known That a reckless life can fill.

Yet her presence is not flown-Her bright smile haunts me still! Ev'ry danger I have known That a reckless life can fill.

The People's Forum will appear daily in the Evening Public Ledger, and also in the Sunday Public Ledger. Letters discussing timely topics will be printed, as well as requested poems, and questions of general interest will be answered.

City Statistician Amused by Some Laws, He Says

Edward J. Cattell, City Statistician, at a luncheon of the New York Traffic Club at the Hotel Commodore yester-day, said: "We have seen prohibition come and go." Cattell, who is seventy, was philosophizing on legislation enacted in his lifetime. He has seen legislation that bucked the multiplication table and the Ten Commandments fail,

Cocoanut Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mul sified coconnut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless) is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair. Simply put two or three tea-spoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm then moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage. You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last every one in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulaified.—Adv.
